£299 Hope Vision 4 LED

HOPE 01282 851200 WWW.HOPEGB.COM WEIGHT 458G

The benchmark all-rounder coming into this test, Hope's four-LED unit is still one of the best no-nonsense trail lamps. The four-LED head gives a great spread that puts everything into clear context on even the most technical trails. The warmer-than-usual colour temperature is easier on fried eyes too.

Regulated output run time is more than three hours in the 'high' setting (Max isn't very efficient) and the two lower settings add cruise time. The rubber-coated battery sits neatly under stems and the head unit can be bar or stem mounted. But there's no indicator for remaining run time or which power setting you're in.
